

Saturday

Jamie Cullum @ Stubb's

Jamie Cullum is the anomaly for those not well-versed in jazz culture. He is a 26-year-old British musician who is making jazz accessible by combining it with hip-hop, rock and blues.

He's a mix of Sinatra, Jack Johnson and Marc Broussard, and despite covers of classics contained on both of his major-label releases, his sound maintains an originality and freshness. Make sure to catch him this weekend, with Josh Ritter supporting.

— Caitlin Wittlif

Myriam Santos-Kayda